Choose the reliability
and quality of Hotprint

The Kortho Hotprinter is a reliable coding system which is used to add variable data directly onto packaging film during the production process. The immediately adhering high-quality print is always scratch-proof and color fast. Kortho Hotprinters excel in durability, build quality, low maintenance cost, economic film consumption and versatile text options.

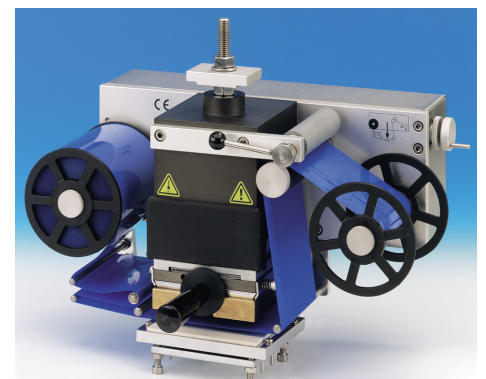

In addition to the standard models Kortho can also supply customized Hotprinters. By doing this the coding equipment can be seamlessly adapted to your own specific requirements and production facilities.
